Use good respiratory Hygiene

Avoid touching your face and make sure you and the people around you follow good respiratory hygiene.

This means covering your mouth and nose when you cough and/or sneeze with:

- A tissue that you put in the bin straight after use
- Your bent elbow

Respiratory hygiene is important because droplets spread the virus. By following good respiratory hygiene you “catch” any droplets that might be produced, and this protects people around you.

Cleaning and Disinfection during your stay

You are responsible for maintain good cleaning and disinfection practices in your accommodation, camp site or caravan during your stay – this includes:

- Clean frequently touched surfaces and objects daily (e.g.: tables, countertops, light switches, doorknobs, and cabinet handles) using a regular household detergent and water.
- If surfaces are dirty, they should be cleaned using a detergent and water prior to disinfection. Always follow the manufacturer’s instructions for all cleaning and disinfection products.
- If possible, have those suspected of, or confirmed with COVID-19 stay in a specific room away from others in the caravan, and use a separate bathroom, where available.

 Persons providing false information will be referred to the Queensland Police and may face fines of up to $13,345*

- In situations where using separate rooms is not available, keep beds at least 2m apart, use temporary barriers between beds (such as curtains), and request that all residents sleep head-to-toe.
- Avoid sharing personal items such as towels, dishes and bedding.

Adhere to State's current social distancing rules

At all times guests are to adhere to the current state rules regarding social distancing and gathering size.

All guests are required to note and comply with signage regarding the maximum number of people allowed in indoor locations. This signage is based on the State's current guidance.
